AGENCY: A Buyer's agent can, with Buyer's consent, agree to act as agent for the Buyer only. In these situations, the agent is not the Seller's agent, even if by agreement the agent may receive compensation for services rendered, either in full or in part from the Seller. An agent acting only for a Buyer has the following affirmative obligations:

To the Buyer: A fiduciary duty of utmost care, integrity, honesty, and loyalty in dealings with the Buyer. To the Buyer, Agent shall: (a) diligent exercise of reasonable skill and care in performance of the agent's duties; (b) a duty of honest and fair dealing and good faith; (c) a duty to disclose all facts known to the agent materially affecting the value or desirability of the property that are not known to, or within the diligent attention and observation of, the parties. An agent is not obligated to reveal to either party any confidential information obtained from the other party that does not involve the affirmative duties set forth above.

The above duties of the agent in a real estate transaction do not relieve a Buyer from the responsibility to protect his own or her own interests. You should carefully read all agreements to assure that they adequately express your understanding of the transaction. A real estate agent is a person qualified to advise about real estate. If legal or tax advice is desired, consult a competent professional. A Buyer has the duty to exercise reasonable care to protect yourself, including as to those facts about the property which are known to you or within your diligent attention and observation. Buyers are strongly urged to obtain tax advice from a competent professional because the federal and state tax consequences of a transaction can be complex and subject to change.
